Reflection or metacognition, learning is a process which involve many strategies to reach a greater learning experience. This can be done through explicitly modeling metacognitive practices, for example, by making your thinking and reflection process explicit and/or using any of the activities outlined below (primarily adapted from Major, Harris, and Zakrajsek, 2015).

Activities for Metacognition | Learning Activities ...